

TESTIMONIALS

I have been using the technical services of Angelo Engineering for at least fifteen years. Mark Nelsen has always been the person that I rang to assist during a breakdown, when a design improvement was required or whenever we had a technical challenge that exceeded the resources of the company that I was working in.

Whenever we had a breakdown, Mark Nelsen would respond in a timely manner assisting us to return our machine to working order by working long hours to machine a new shaft or weld repair a broken frame. Mark Nelsen is the person we would call to improve a machine component or a process. Mark Nelsen is the person that we would call to install a new machine.

I have found Mark Nelsen to be flexible, considerate and thorough in all of my interactions with him.

I have no hesitation in recommending Mark Nelsen at Angelo Engineering for any engineering work including breakdowns, machine installations, machine design and modifications, and engineering advice.
